Question

Students must visit any nearby logistics firm—such as a warehouse, transport operator, courier company, or distribution center—and observe how the organization manages key logistics activities. During the visit, focus on transportation, warehousing, inventory control, order processing, packaging, use of technology, and customer service. After the visit, prepare a concise Field Study Report explaining the firm's main logistics operations, information flow, safety measures, sustainability practices, and challenges faced. Include your key observations and suggestions for improvement. A presentation and viva voce will be conducted individually based on your report and field experience.
